Section	Supporting information
Section One Response 60% of the written exam 14–20 questions with subparts Part A: Listening and responding Two audio texts Suggested working time: 30 minutes Part B: Viewing, reading and responding One audio-visual text Two print texts Suggested working time: 40 minutes	In this section, questions in a variety of formats such as multiple-choice, tick the box, short answer, and retrieval chart are used. Questions and candidates' responses are in English. Part A: Candidates listen to two audio texts. One is a text of approximately 250 words that is divided into two sections; the other is a text of approximately 100 words such as an announcement, a news item, an advertisement, or a message on an answering machine. Each audio text is played twice with a 30 second pause after the first reading and a three minute pause after the second reading to allow time for candidates to respond to questions. Part B: Candidates view the audio-visual text three times. Candidates may not make notes until the second and third viewings. There is a 30 second pause after the first viewing and a 60 second pause after the second viewing. Following the third viewing three minutes are allocated for candidates to answer the questions. Candidates then read two short texts, one of approximately 150 words; the other of approximately 120 words. Varied and contemporary unit-related texts are used.
Section Two Written communication 40% of the written exam Part A: Two stimuli Two stimuli and four questions Answer one question from each stimulus Suggested working time: 40 minutes Part B: Extended response One question from a choice of five Suggested working time: 40 minutes	Part A: Two stimuli such as email, letter, print advertisement with two questions each are provided. Candidates respond to only one question from each stimulus in Italian in approximately 75 words. Each question is written in both Italian and English and candidates respond in Italian. Part B: Five questions written in Italian and English are provided. Candidates respond to one question in Italian in approximately 150 words. Varied text types for production are included.
