Section	Supporting information
Section One Comparative critical analysis 30% of the written exam One question Two artwork images Suggested working time: 45 minutes	This section addresses visual analysis, meaning and purpose, and personal response. Candidates refer to artwork images provided in the Illustration booklet to demonstrate their critical analysis skills and use of the Frames in comparing art works. Candidates analyse the artworks, interpret meanings and comment on the relationship between the art forms' purpose, ideas, issues, beliefs, attitudes and/or values communicated. Artwork is sourced from a variety of forms, periods, times, and/or cultures. Prompts including title, artist, medium used and any relevant contextual information are provided.
Section Two Image analysis 30% of the written exam One question 4–6 artwork images Suggested working time: 45 minutes	This section addresses visual analysis, meaning and purpose, and personal response. Candidates select one image from the range provided in the Illustration booklet to answer the question. Candidates analyse the image, interpret meanings and comment on purpose, ideas, issues, beliefs, attitudes and/or values communicated. Artwork is sourced from a variety of forms, periods, times, and/or cultures. Prompts including title, artist, medium used and any relevant contextual information are provided.
Section Three Case studies 40% of the written exam One question Suggested working time: 60 minutes	This section addresses visual analysis, meaning and purpose, personal response, and social, cultural and historical contexts. The question could involve responding to a quote or prompt and may have sub parts. Candidates demonstrate historical knowledge and critical understandings developed as a part of their research and case study investigations. Candidates discuss the themes, issues, meanings, inspirations, and concerns highlighted in the artwork of at least one artist from an Australian or international context. Candidates reflect on their own art practice and discuss how their case study investigations have influenced, shaped or informed their own work.
