

Year 11 Ancient History - General
Unit 1 - Ancient Civilisations
Elective - Late Bronze Age Greece and Troy c.1500-1050BCE

MARKING KEY

(Student must provide accurate and detailed description to gain ANY full marks)

1. Identify who Phillip II is, and describe the influence he had on Alexander the Great's early life. (3 marks)

Description	Marks
- Accurate and detailed description of the influence Philip had on Alexander's early life - Correct identification of Phillip II	3
- Description of the influence Philip had on Alexander's early life - Correct identification of Phillip II	2
Correct identification of Phillip II	1
No/inaccurate attempt at Question 1	0
Answer could include, but is not limited to: ➡ Alexander was the son of King Philip II of Macedonia ➡ Philip II was a great military leader and organiser. Olympias was passionate and hot-tempered. Alexander inherited the best qualities from both parents, which later proved to be an asset to his legacy. ➡ Alexander was more ambitious than his father and wept bitterly when he heard of Philip's conquests saying "my father will get ahead of me in everything, and will leave nothing great for me to do". ➡ Alexander's mother taught him that Achilles was his ancestor, and that his father was descended from Hercules ➡ Alexander was told by an oracle that his true father was Zeus and not Philip II

2. Explain the methods Alexander the Great used to achieve his aims. Include discussion of his:

- aims/motivations
- methods/actions

(4 marks)

Description	Marks
• Accurate and detailed explanation of Alexander's aims/motivations • Accurate and detailed explanation of the methods used to achieve these aims	4
• Detailed explanation of Alexander's aims/motivations • Detailed explanation of the methods used to achieve these aims	3
• Explanation of Alexander's aims/motivations • Explanation of the methods used to achieve these aims	2
• Identification of at least one (1) Alexander's aims/motivations • Identification of at least one (1) method used to achieve these aims • Limited explanation provided	1
• No/inaccurate attempt at Question 2	0
Answer could include, but is not limited to: ➡ Aim: expand Macedonian/Greek empire and conquer territory, spread legacy, "heroism". ➡ Alexander had a great military mind ➡ An expert at organising his units for complex battle manoeuvres ➡ Hiding his true numbers and managing his army during the flow of battle, this was the key ➡ Development of the Phalanx: Box formation, 8 to 36 men deep, men in front carried spears 4 to 6 meters long ➡ One of Alexander's best known military tactics was that he would fight right along side his men ➡ By showing courage in the face of death, he would set an example to his soldiers ➡ Situations like this are the reasons why Alexander's men respected him and had a high morale

3. Describe the ways (more than 1) that Alexander shaped or changed society in the long-term.

(4 marks)

Description	Marks
• Accurate and detailed description of more than 1 way Alexander shaped or changed society in the short term	4
• Description of more than 1 way Alexander shaped or changed society in the short term	3
• Correct identification of one (1) way that Alexander shaped/changed society in the short term • Correct identification of ANOTHER way that Alexander shaped/changed society in the short term	2
• Correct identification of one (1) way that Alexander shaped/changed society in the short term	1
• No/inaccurate attempt at Question 3	0
Answer could include, but is not limited to: ➡ Spread of Greek/Macedonian culture ➡ Unification of both the East and West - militarily and culturally ➡ Change to a Monetary Economy ➡ Hellenistic Era/Empire broken down after death ➡ Lasting significance/influence of legacy on future leaders ➡ Encouraged blending of cultures/spread of ideas

4. Identify one (1) significant battle of Alexander the Great, and describe why this was a significant event in his career.

(4 marks)

Description	Marks
• Accurate and detailed description of why identified battle was a significant event in the career of Alexander the Great • Correct identification of one (1) significant battle of Alexander the Great	4

• Description of why identified battle was a significant event in the career of Alexander the Great • Correct identification of one (1) significant battle of Alexander the Great	3
• Correct identification of one (1) significant battle of Alexander the Great	2
• Identification of one (1) significant battle of Alexander the Great, but some information missing (e.g. who/when/where).	1
• No/inaccurate attempt at Question 4	0
Answer could include, but is not limited to: ➔ May of 334 BCE, Alexander's army marched across the Hellespont to invade the Persians under King Darius II ➔ Soon after visiting Troy, Alexander struck the first Persian army to challenge him at the river Granicus meeting its commanders and their guards head on in person in a clash at the center of the battle line ➔ At the battle of Granicus, Alexander's army lost only 34 men while the Persian army lost thousands ➔ After the battle of Granicus the Persian army regrouped and struck at Alexander again at the battle of Issus. ➔ He conquered the Persian capital, Persepolis and from there the Persian empire fell before his feet: The Persian king, Darius III fled like a coward, but ended up being assassinated by his own men ➔ During his march across the Persian Empire, Alexander stopped at the city of Gordium where legend says that the famous Gordium Knot was tied ➔ Historians mention two different stories on how Alexander untied the Knot ➔ In 331 while conquering Egypt, Alexander established the famous city of Alexandria ➔ After conquering the territories of the Persian Empire, Alexander turned his eyes toward India. He had heard many stories of vast riches found there and that beyond India was the end of the world ➔ In 326 BCE, Alexander marched his army into the Indus Valley, also called the Punjab: It was here in the Indus Valley that Alexander and his army would face something they have never encountered before in battle, the Indian war elephant ➔ At the river Jhelum, King Porus awaited Alexander with a great army and over 200 war elephants ; No Greek soldiers had ever faced elephants in such sufficient numbers during battle ➔ Alexander's horse Bucephalus died during the battle and in his honour Alexander established a city and named it Bucephalus ➔ Alexander was forced to halt his pursuit for ultimate glory

5. Describe the manner and impact of Alexander the Great's Death. In your response, include discussion of:

- speculation about death
- the Hellenistic Empire

(5 marks)

Description	Marks
- Accurate and detailed description of the manner of Alexander's death - Accurate and detailed description of why there is speculation about the manner of Alexander's Death - Accurate and detailed description of the break-up of the Hellenistic Empire after Alexander's Death	5
- Description of the manner of Alexander's death - Description of why there is speculation about the manner of Alexander's Death - Detailed description of the break-up of the Hellenistic Empire after Alexander's Death	4
- Some description of the manner of Alexander's death - Some description of why there is speculation about the manner of Alexander's Death - Some description of the break-up of the Hellenistic Empire after Alexander's Death	3
- Identification of the manner of Alexander's death - Identification of why there is speculation about the manner of Alexander's Death - Identification of the break-up of the Hellenistic Empire after Alexander's Death	2
- Correct identification of the manner of Alexander's death, but some information missing - Limited or no information provided about the break-up of the Hellenistic Empire and/or speculation about the manner of Alexander's death	1
No/inaccurate attempt at Question 5	0

Answer could include, but is not limited to:

- ➡ Still a mystery to this day BUT in Babylon: 33 years old
- ➡ Poisoned wine/ succumbed to illness.
- ➡ June 10, 323 BCE Alexander the Great died.
- ➡ They embalmed him and placed his body in a gold sarcophagus which was taken to Memphis, Egypt. Later it was transported to its final destination, Alexandria. Unfortunately, the tomb was not left untouched. In 89 BCE, Ptolemy IX needed money, so he opened the tomb and melted down Alexander's sarcophagus to make gold coins. People were so enraged that Ptolemy would do such a thing to a legend, that Ptolemy was killed soon after.
- ➡ After the death of Alexander the Great, his generals, scrambling to gain power, broke out into civil war against each other.
- ➡ All of Alexander's living relatives were secretly murdered
- ➡ Battles raged across the empire until finally around 305 BCE, four men emerged each gaining large portions of the empire
- ➡ The empire was split into four sections, Selucus ruling the territories of Babylon, Ptolemy ruling the territories of Egypt, Cassander ruling the territories of Macedon, and Lysimachus ruling the territories of Thrace

6. Describe and evaluate one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great'.

(6 marks)

Description	Marks
- Accurate and detailed description of one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great' - Accurate and detailed evaluation of one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great'	5 - 6
- Description of one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great' - Evaluation of one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great'	3 - 4
- Identification of one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great' - Identification of one (1) reason why Alexander is considered 'Great'	1 - 2
No/inaccurate attempt at Question 6	0
Answer could include, but is not limited to: ➡ Not only is Alexander known for conquering practically the known civilised world, he is also known for issuing the Hellenistic age. ➡ The Hellenistic age was the age of Greek influence and the spread of Greek culture across the world ➡ Alexander was known for issuing in this age because he brought together so many different civilisations ➡ Everywhere he conquered, Alexander would build new cities and establish schools, museums, and libraries within these cities ➡ In Alexandria, Egypt, Alexander built a famous museum where the works of art and evidence of man's creativity could be studied and collected ➡ By doing such deeds as these, Greek culture was taught, learned and preserved for over a thousand years with the help of Rome and Christianity ➡ ACCOMPLISHMENTS: expansion of empire and military strategy ➡ IMPACT AFTER DEATH: influence of culture (and on future leaders) ➡ LEGEND: Heroic figure in historical accounts	