

Rights & Freedoms – Indigenous Australians

Indigenous Australians have lived in Australia for at least 60 000 years. The arrival of Europeans in 1788 resulted in significant changes to their traditional customs and ways of life. They were formally and informally discriminated against for many years. Despite this, an Aboriginal rights movement emerged from the 1930’s and celebrated major victories in the 60’s. By the 1990’s, the reconciliation movement was in full swing.

Year: Event:	Year: Event:	Year: Event:	Year: Event:	Year: Event:
Year: Event:	Year: Event:	Year: Event:	Year: Event:	Year: Event:

Ter

- Pre 1901 – Aboriginal Protection Boards established
- 1901 – Federation
- 1937 – Assimilation Policy
- 1938 – Day of Mourning Protest
- 1966 – Wave Hill Walk Off
- 1788-1960's – Segregation Policy
- 1800-1970's – Stolen Generations
- 1997 – Bringing Them Home Report
- 2008 – The Apology Speech by Kevin Rudd

Place the events on the timeline. Find key pieces of information (3-4 for each event) about the event, including key people involved and a description of the event.